CATEGORIES – MEMORY TEST

My mother went shopping...

The first player starts with something beginning with A your mother might have bought from the shops, for instance:

My mother went shopping and bought some apples.

The next player adds something beginning with B:

My mother went shopping and bought some apples and some bananas.

The next player adds something beginning with C:

My mother went shopping and bought some apples, some bananas and a cabbage.

And so on. Anyone who can't think of an object or can't remember all the objects is knocked out. The winner is the last player left.

I went to the zoo...

The same thing again, but this time we're looking for what you saw at the zoo:

I went to the zoo and saw an alligator.

I went to the zoo and saw an alligator and a bear.

I went to the zoo and saw an alligator, a bear and a camel.

Then play the games again, but using any words. They don't have to start with A, B, C and so on.

Which version is easier? Why do you think that is?
